

4+1 tips for memorable X-mas

● Movie-buff !

Get up to speed with the X-mas films and indulge in watching one! That way, you'll brush up on your English and above all you'll have a great time.

(Suggestions: Johnny English, Home Alone, Mr. Bean, Bridget Jone's diary, Serendipity, Love Actually, Notting hill)

● Have you decorated your house yet?

Everybody is looking forward to embellishing their places with ornaments, tinsels and stuff like that! So, bring the box with the Christmas ornaments, start decorating the Christmas tree and turn your messy (perhaps) house into the stuff that dreams are made of !

● Foodie or nah?

Of course, gastronomy couldn't be left out. Enjoy all your favourite Christmas meals (e.g turkey, black pudding), desserts (e.g figgy pudding) and beverage (e.g champagne, wine), but in moderation or then everybody will know your New Year's resolution ! 😊

● On a spending spree !

“Milk” Santa Claus...metaphorically speaking! In other words, splash out money on as many things as you fancy, without ifs and buts. Give yourself a gift, you deserve it! After all, Christmas is annual. 😊

● Not any special plans for Christmas?

Fed up with the stereotypical tendencies during Christmas holidays? Don't worry! The forthcoming Christmas have a special getaway. There is no need to be a far-flung or an expensive destination; just take with you bits and pieces, invite some good friends and off you go!

Suggestions:

1. London, England

- A romantic destination for couples. You can go shopping at the avenue Oxford Street, go sightseeing and enjoy the snow.

2. Paris, France

- An ideal destination for families. You can go sightseeing and taste the French dishes, but don't forget to visit Disneyland and watch the Christmas parade.

3. New York, USA

- A cosmopolitan destination to go on your own. Apart from the Statue of Liberty, there are several malls and bars for you to have a go and enjoy yourself there.
