ART IN CLASS

- Argue that instruction becomes more effective when educators integrate creative activities and make them central to academic development.
- Across disciplines, including STEM, there's room to reimagining classes with a strong emphasis on drawing, painting, playing music, performing drama, and other creative pursuits
- Encouraging students to use their imagination
- help them actively engage with new concepts and discover connections between ideas as well as provide advantages for their social and emotional well-being.

Importance of art

- There can be no life without art. Humans naturally tend to look for beauty in all things. They make art out of it with their creativity and imagination. It is this art that feeds the human soul. The ability to create and appreciate art differentiates us from animals and machines. It is what makes us humane.
- We all have artistic impulses hidden in us. These talents and impulses nurture our soul and help us create beautiful things, whether it is music, stories or drawings. We must do our best to bring out these talents and hone them, because we cannot live without art or beauty.

To conclude, we must always remember how essential art is to life! Thank you for listening to me so attentively.
